Description

There comes a time when a house simply no longer serves its purpose. Children grow up, routines change and it starts to make sense that each person has their own place.
This apartment in Montijo could be precisely that change.
With 123.91 m² of gross private area, situated on the ground floor, it was designed for a family that already feels the lack of space in their daily life.

Here, each child can have their own room, parents benefit from the privacy of a suite and there are still spaces for the family to be together, receive friends, work or study without feeling that everything happens in the same room.

The ground floor also makes daily routines more practical: arriving with shopping, coming in with the children or going out several times a day without complications.

With schools, shops and services nearby and just minutes from Fórum Montijo and Freeport, perhaps the time has come to give your family what is starting to be lacking - more space to grow, without ceasing to be close to everything.
